

Brownie Girl Scout Way

As a Girl Scout Brownie, you're part of a sisterhood. Brownies all over the world share traditions and do good things to make the world a better place. In this badge, try some special Brownie traditions (some that Girl Scouts have been sharing for 100 years!)—and, of course, have a world of Brownie fun.

Steps:

1. Sing everywhere
2. Celebrate Juliette Low's birthday
3. Share sisterhood
4. Leave a place better than you found it
5. Enjoy Girl Scout traditions

Purpose

When I've earned this badge, I'll know how to practice and share the Girl Scout way.

Step 1: Sing everywhere

Songs are fun no matter where you are. Singing brings us together and helps us feel connected, strong, and proud. Girl Scouts sing in special places or to mark special times—or sometimes just for the fun of it!

Choices—do one:

Learn three new Girl Scout songs. Ask an older Girl Scout or look in your Journeys for a song to learn and enjoy while: (a) riding in the car or doing chores, (b) camping or doing things outdoors, (c) at the end of a Brownie meeting. Sing them with your friends, and talk about why you like each one.

Learn a new singing game, an action song, and a hand-clapping song. These might include clapping your hands or stomping your feet in time to songs like “The Hokey Pokey” or “If You’re Happy and You Know It.” Once you’ve learned your songs, teach them to friends or Daisies and sing them together.

Make up your own song based on nature. Listen to musical sounds in nature, like birds singing, frogs croaking, or rivers washing over stones. Use the sounds to create your own song, then sing it for your Brownie group or a family member.

For More FUN: Make up hand and body movements to go along with the song, like girls did to earn their Songster badge in 1963.

QUOTE:

Brownie Girl Scout Way

You can sing almost anywhere. It is one of the favorite pastimes around the campfire; dishes are washed and dried more quickly if they are done to . . . a favorite tune.

—Girl Scout Handbook, 1940

SIDEBAR: More to Explore

Share your songs. Get together with your Brownie friends to plan a program of songs for a holiday or special occasion, like a Scouts' Own. Choose songs that fit the theme and decide how to introduce them.

Step 2: Celebrate Juliette Low's birthday

Girl Scout celebrations honor women and girls who change the world. As a Brownie, celebrate our founder's birthday. Juliette "Daisy" Gordon Low wanted girls to have a place to come together as sisters while having fun and doing good, too—so she started Girl Scouting! This year, mark her birthday with a special celebration.

Choices—do one:

Throw a birthday bash. Have a party for Daisy with your Brownie sisters. You could invite another Brownie group to celebrate with you.

For More FUN: Ask an older Girl Scout what ceremonies, games, songs, and decorations she has used to celebrate Daisy's birthday. Try one of these ideas at your party!

Make a birthday card for a Daisy. The littlest Girl Scouts are called Daisies, after Juliette "Daisy" herself. In honor of Daisy Low's birthday, make and give a card to a Girl Scout Daisy. Inside, tell her your favorite things about Daisy Low, and your favorite thing about being a Brownie. (Ask older Girl Scouts to help you find information about Daisy Low—you can look in your handbook and on the Girl Scout websites).

Make up a birthday message. Three years in a row, Daisy wrote a message to all the Girl Scouts. Read the messages on page 4—ask an adult or older girl for help if you don't know some of the words. Then write your own birthday message about something important you want Girl Scouts to know today. Share your message with friends, family, and other Brownies.

For More FUN: Send your message to a Brownie group in another council.

Brownie Girl Scout Way

Tip: Daisy was born on October 31, 1860. She loved having her birthday on Halloween, but your celebration can be on any day.

SIDEBAR: Daisy's Birthday Messages

October 31, 1923

My dear Girl Scouts:

One's birthday should be the day for good resolutions. And there is a suggestion by Arnold Bennett which may be of use to you as it has helped me. He says, "... Putting yourself in another's place is the beginning of wisdom in human relations." This requires real imagination, but by doing so each Girl Scout will be able to live among others happily.

Juliette Low

October 31, 1924

Dear Girl Scouts:

I am thinking of you today and in spirit I am with you. On Halloween, which is my own birthday, I shall be joining in your games with you. For Scouting is a game, too.

I hope that we shall remember the rules:

- To play fair,
- To play in your place,
- To play for your side and not for yourself.
- And as for the score, the best thing in a game is the fun and not the result.

Girl Scouts, I salute you. Your friend and founder,

Juliette Low

October 31, 1925

To You, Girl Scouts:

As you gather in your troops to celebrate our Girl Scout Week in November, think of the girls around the world who are your sister Girl Scouts and Girl Guides. Truly, ours is a circle of friendships, united by our ideals.

Juliette Low

Brownie Girl Scout Way

Step 3: Share sisterhood

“Sisterhood” doesn’t mean just sisters in your family. All the girls and women who are Girl Scouts try to live by the Girl Scout Law. That’s what makes us a Girl Scout sisterhood. Our Law brings us together—and in this badge, you’ll practice living its lines!

Choices—do one:

Make up a game about your favorite line of the Law. You could create a jump rope song that uses the names of all the girls in your group. Every girl will feel included, and that’s being considerate and caring. Or you could practice being honest and fair while you play your favorite board game with your Brownie sisters.

Create a story, play, or puppet show. Make it about how you try to live the Girl Scout Law. Maybe you can share something you did on a Leadership Journey or a good turn you’re proud of. Tell or perform it for your group or a family member.

Make a team mural, collage, flag, or other artwork. Create something that shows the sisterhood between all the girls in your group. You might show each girl’s name, handprint, and how she practices the Girl Scout Law—for example, “Brownie Elf is friendly because she shares smiles with everyone.”

For More FUN: Display your artwork at your meeting place.

SIDEBAR: More to Explore

Take your sisterhood wider. Find a Brownie or Brownie group in another town or country, and share your game, story, or artwork. You could share instructions for your game, a video clip of your puppet show, or a photo of your artwork. Ask them to share their Girl Scout Law projects with you, too!

SIDEBAR: Kim’s Game

This game is a favorite of Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts all over the world. It comes from the story “Kim” by Rudyard Kipling. Kim plays the game to learn to be a better spy—and you can play it to practice looking at things very closely. When you notice details in the world, you can find lots of ways to make the world a better place!

Here’s how to play: Put 10 small items on a table. Show everyone the items for one minute, then cover them with a scarf. Ask the players to name what was on the table. See if they can remember all 10 things!

Step 4: Leave a place better than you found it

Brownie Girl Scout Way

It's the Girl Scout way to care about the world around us—whether it's a room, a campground, or the world. Practice by leaving a place you use or visit better than you found it. Then share how it made you feel with your friends and family.

Choices—do one:

A better room or home. Think of three ways you could leave your room or your home better than you found it each day. Team up with your family to choose one and do it for a week.

A better meeting place. Team up with your Brownie friends to think of three ways you could leave your Girl Scout meeting place better than you found it. Choose one and do it.

A better classroom. Think of three ways you could leave your classroom better than you found it. Talk to your teacher about your ideas, and choose one together that you can do for one week.

Tip: Did this step inspire you to want to leave more places better? Do it! Find ways to Take Action in your Leadership Journeys.

Step 5: Enjoy Girl Scout traditions

Traditions bring people together. A tradition can be a special food, a ceremony, a song—anything that's passed along through the years. Try one of these to share in Girl Scout tradition.

Choices—do one:

Follow in a Girl Scout's footsteps. Find a neighbor, relative, older friend, or family member who was a Girl Scout. Find out her favorite memories. Talk about things that are the same and different from when she was a Girl Scout compared to today.

Read the Brownie Story from an old Girl Scout handbook. Then read a story about Brownie Elf and the Brownie Friends from one of your Journeys, and talk about the two stories with your Brownie sisters. Why do you like each one? What do Brownies always have in common?

For More FUN: Illustrate one of the Brownie stories yourself, or ask your friends to each draw a page.

Make up a story about Campbell, Jamila, and Alejandra. You meet these three Brownie Friends in each of your Leadership Journeys. Read some of their adventures. Then make up a story about them! Will Campbell, Jam, and Ali visit your town or school? Will Brownie Elf come with them? Tell the story to your friends or family.

Brownie Girl Scout Way

SIDEBAR: Make a Sit-Upon

Its funny name tells what it is. You sit upon it when the ground is damp or dusty. It's a Girl Scout tradition to make one in order to be prepared to sit upon any surface!

- Get a large piece of waterproof material, like oilcloth or plastic. Cut it into two squares.
- Put a cushion or crumpled newspaper between the squares.
- Fasten the edges of the squares together with staples or stitches. If you want to use stitches, have an adult show you how to make a running stitch or overcast stitch.

Now that I've earned this badge, I can give service by:

- Helping my teacher leave our classroom better than we found it
- Teaching Daisies new songs
- Sharing my artwork with girls who might want to become Brownies

All trademarks, trade names, or logos mentioned or used are the property of their respective owners.

TM ® & © 2023–2024 Girl Scouts of the United States of America. All rights reserved.

No part of this publication may be reproduced, distributed, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical methods, including photocopying, recording, or by any information storage or retrieval system, now known or hereinafter invented, without the prior written permission of Girl Scouts of the United States of America (GSUSA), except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical reviews and certain other noncommercial uses permitted by copyright law. For permissions requests, write to GSUSA at the address below or visit the www.girlscouts.org website to access permission request forms.