Trail Adventure

Outdoor adventures are exciting—and unpredictable. At every turn, you might see something new. In this badge, you'll choose an adventure and have an experience you'll enjoy every step of the way! Get started by exploring both of your options with your Girl Scout friends or family members.

Steps

1. Choose your outdoor adventure
2. Plan and prepare
3. Gather your gear
4. Set a goal and train for your adventure
5. Go on your outdoor adventure

Purpose

When I've earned this badge, I will have planned and learned the skills for trail running or three separate day hikes.

A photograph of three Girl Scouts hiking away from the camera on a dirt trail. The girl in the foreground is wearing a bright yellow jacket and a blue backpack with a brown diamond-shaped patch and a 'THE NORTH FACE' logo. She is also wearing black leggings and grey sneakers. The girl in the middle has red hair in a ponytail and is wearing a grey jacket. The girl in the back has dark hair and is wearing a red and blue jacket. They are all wearing backpacks and hiking on a trail surrounded by trees and foliage.

Every step has three choices. Do ONE choice to complete each step. Inspired? Do more!

STEP 1 Choose your outdoor adventure

What kind of adventure sparks your interest? Do you want to go trail running? Or take day hikes with family or Girl Scout friends? It's your choice—so get started by exploring both of your options.

ADVENTURE OPTIONS

- ▶ Trail Running: You will train to run on a trail for a distance that challenges you. Aim for one mile at a comfortable pace. An adult will help you keep track of the distance. Challenge yourself and go farther than a mile, if you can.
- ▶ Day Hiker: You will train for and go on three separate hikes. You decide what types of hikes you want to do. It could be a hike to reach a special viewpoint at a national park, a night hike, or a slow hike so you can explore nature. Aim for each hike to be at least three hours, covering three to four miles.

CHOICES-DO ONE:

- Talk to an expert trail runner and hiker. Find out what they like best about what they do. Talk to your friends or family about which of the two adventures you think you'd enjoy more and why.

OR

- Experience both, then choose your favorite. Visit a neighborhood park or local hiking trail with an adult. First, take a short run. Next, walk along the trail and take notice of everything around you. Reflect on your activities. Talk to your friends or family about what you enjoyed more and why.

OR

- Create a mood board. On a poster board, draw and write thoughts and words that represent what running and hiking mean for you. Add photos or drawings too—be creative! When you're done, talk to your friends or family about which of the two adventures you think you'd enjoy more and why.

STEP 2 Plan and prepare

You decided on a trail-running or day-hiking adventure. Now, come up with a plan to make it happen!

TO COMPLETE THIS STEP, MAKE SURE YOU:

- ▶ Pick a place to go. Consider the following:
 - ▷ Difficulty of the trail with elevation changes, altitude, distance, and terrain
 - ▷ Fitness level needed for the trail
 - ▷ Ideal time of year, keeping the weather in mind
 - ▷ Water sources along the trail
 - ▷ Wildlife along the trail
 - ▷ Remoteness of the trail
 - ▷ Access to outside help in the event of an emergency
- ▶ Choose days and times for your adventure. Find days that will work for your adventure. How long do you think you'll need? What will you do if it rains, snows, is really hot, or is really cold? Will you still go, or will you pick back-up days?
- ▶ Plan some activities to do along the trail. Mix up your run or hike by adding in some activities along the way. Write down your ideas on a notecard, put clear tape over your notecard or put it in a plastic baggie, and attach it to the outside of your backpack or water bottle. Some activities are listed on page 11 to help you get going. Be as creative as you'd like. The trail is one big playground!

WORDS TO KNOW for Trail Running and Day Hiking

- Backcountry: An isolated area without roads
- Blaze: A colored marker, usually painted or nailed to a tree, used to help guide runners/hikers along the trail
- Essential gear: Items that are important or necessary for your outdoor adventure
- Off-road: Running or hiking on softer surfaces, not roads
- Pace: How fast you are running or hiking. Your pace will be different depending on how tired you are.

Before You Begin: Ten Essentials for Outdoor Adventures

Use this list to help create a checklist of things you might need for your outdoor adventure. And add things too! For example, you might need a backpack for your hike.

- ▶ Proper clothing and footwear
- ▶ Sun protection
- ▶ Water
- ▶ Food
- ▶ First-aid kit
- ▶ Navigational tools
- ▶ Lightweight portable shelter
- ▶ Light source
- ▶ Fire starter
- ▶ Repair kit

STEP 3 Gather your gear

Be prepared with the right gear for your adventure!
Try to borrow gear from family or friends so you don't need to buy it.

CHOICES-DO ONE:

- ☐ Visit an outdoor adventure retailer. Ask someone who works there about your list of essential gear. Find out how and why each item is used. Make sure to ask what else should be on the list. Do you need any special gear or equipment for your adventure?

OR

-  Try out your gear. If you're running or hiking with a daypack or new shoes, take a trial trek around your neighborhood with a trusted adult to make sure that everything is comfortable.

OR

- Compare and share. Bring essential gear to a troop meeting to share and compare. See if you can borrow some things from friends or family. Do you know an adult with experience in your outdoor adventure who could help guide your meeting?

Navigation Skills

- ★ Learn to use the Sun and a compass to identify cardinal directions: north, south, east and west.
- ★ Know how to read a basic trail map.
- ★ Learn the trail sign markings for the trails you'll be using.

Fuel for Trail Running or Hiking

- ▶ Trail mix
- ▶ Oranges
- ▶ Bananas
- ▶ Frozen grapes
- ▶ Applesauce squeeze packets
- ▶ Water in reusable bottle

What do you hope to accomplish with your training? What do you want to achieve on your outdoor adventure? Big or small, write your goals here. Then share them with friends and family.

STEP 4 Set a goal and train for your adventure

Before any outdoor adventure, you'll want to prepare mentally and physically for the challenge. The best way to do this is by setting goals and training.

TO COMPLETE THIS STEP, MAKE SURE YOU:

- ▶ Use the training tips. Referring to the list on page 9, come up with a plan and put together a training schedule.
- ▶ Follow safety tips. Train only with a trusted adult or friend. Make sure another adult (one who is not with you), knows your route and the estimated time you should return home.
- ▶ Practice your navigational skills. See some suggestions on page 7.
- ▶ Practice your first-aid skills. Know how to treat injuries such as sprains, cuts, and sunburn.

CHOICES-DO ONE:

-  Practice mind training. Try different ways of preparing yourself mentally. Visualize your success—imagine you are at the end of your hike or run. Meditate by quieting your mind for ten minutes. Use your own name in positive self-talk, for example: “[Your name] is fast and strong!”

OR

- ☐ Take a practice run or hike. Running? Do a practice run around your block or on a school track. Hiking? Take a short hike with a friend or family member. Team up with a trusted adult for both options, of course!

OR

-  Get expert training tips. Ask a track coach or experienced hiker to give you tips on goals and training.

Training Tips

- ▶ Get a good night's sleep before your adventure.
- ▶ Eat a healthy meal before you go.
- ▶ Seek out local areas for practice runs or hikes.
- ▶ Before you run or hike, warm up your muscles with some light exercises. You might try jumping jacks, jogging in place, arm circles, and raising your knees up high.
- ▶ Practice basic form for trail running and hiking. Keep your eyes on the trail ahead of you, hold your body tall (try not to slouch), swing your arms up and down, keep your feet under (not in front of) your body, and use a shorter stride.
- ▶ Do a talk test: If you can't say more than a few words at a time, you're probably running or hiking too hard. Slow down until you catch your breath. Remember, your adventure should be fun! You don't want to push yourself too hard.
- ▶ After you run or hike, be sure to stretch out the muscles in your lower body.
- ▶ Pick a positive saying for your outdoor adventure. It could be something like "I can do it," "I've got this," or "I am strong." Repeat this saying out loud or silently to yourself as you are training and on your adventure. It will help you focus if things get difficult.

For More FUN: With an adult's help, look for a journal or goals app where you can make notes and upload photos of your adventure.

Adventure Activities

Here are some suggestions for things to try on your trail run or day hike.

- ▶ Centipede (trail running): Your group jogs in a single-file line at a comfortable pace. The person at the end will run to the front of the line. Then the next person at the back runs to the front of the line. Repeat until everyone has been first in line.
- ▶ Close-Ups (day hiking): A few girls hike ahead of the rest of the group and take a close-up picture of an object on the trail. When the rest of the group arrives, the girls in front show the other girls the photo and give them an idea of where to look for the object. Take turns doing this along your hike.
- ▶ Categories (for trail running or hiking): A girl shouts out a category (like animals, states, or food). Take turns naming items in the category—quickly!—until you can't come up with any more. Then change categories and do it again!

Now that I've earned this badge, I can give service by:

- Teaching an outdoor adventure game to a younger girl
- Guiding my family on a weekend run or hike
- Showing a friend how to practice visualization, meditation, or positive self-talk
