

What Would You Do?

Try acting out these scenes to show how you would stand up for others in real life.

- Your friend is waiting to use a swing on the playground. Someone else takes the swing before your friend can get to it.
- You notice the new student at your school is alone at recess.
- Your friend invites everyone in your class to their birthday party, except one person.
- One of your soccer teammates laughs every time another teammate misses a goal.
- A new member of your troop doesn't have a partner for an activity. You're already paired with your best friend.
