

What is Supplemental Money Earning?

Supplemental Money Earning activities are all money-earning activities that girls participate in other than the Fall Product and Girl Scout Cookie Programs to support Girl Scout activities. Additional Money Earning events should be an experience that gives girls the opportunity to develop self-confidence and to practice and develop skills in goal-setting, budgeting, marketing, and customer relations. Read the GSWCF and GSUSA policies and standards in Volunteer Essentials regarding money earning online at: www.gswcf.org/volunteeressentials

- Money-earning activities need to be age appropriate, suited to the abilities of the girls, be agreed upon by the girls as part of their overall budget and be consistent with the goals and standards of Girl Scouting as presented in Volunteer Essentials and the Blue Book of Basic Documents.
- The Girl Scout Cookie Program and Fall Product Program are the primary money-earning activities in which girls can participate.
- Troops or groups requesting a supplemental money-earning project must participate in both council sponsored product programs in order to request a supplemental money earning activity as these programs promote and educate girls in financial literacy and money management. The troop or group may plan or hold money earning events at any time of the year; however it may not compete with the Girl Scout Cookie Program or other council product programs.
- Supplemental Earning Forms must be submitted a minimum 4 weeks prior to the money earning event. Projects may not be approved if they conflict with existing council wide events, policies or procedures on money-earning activities. Forms are attached to this document.
- The Service Unit Troop Consultant &/or Service Unit team will verify participation in product sales and ensure there are not conflicts with service unit or council events. Once the request has been reviewed, you will be notified of the approval decision by the Troop Consultant/Service Unit team. If any part of the project does not meet guidelines, you will be notified by the Troop Consultant/service unit. All money earned from supplemental money-earning projects must be recorded on the troop finance report. (If Troop Consultant is involved with the money earning activity, a service unit team member will review the request.)
- It is recommended that a troop/group has no more than one money-earning project a year (in addition to the council-sponsored product programs) unless it is raising money for a Take Action project or to go to Juliette Low's Birthplace in Savannah, a World Center, or another major trip with a defined purpose and budget.
- Girl Scouts discourages the use of games of chance. Any activity which could be considered a game of chance (raffles, contests, bingo) must be approved by council and be in compliance with all local and state laws.
- Girl Scout Blue Book policy forbids girls from the direct solicitation of cash.
- The Girl Scout trademark may not be used to increase revenue for another business (including in-home demonstration parties). Any business using the Girl Scout trademark must seek authorization from GSUSA.

Money Donations to Others

- Girls CANNOT donate money, raise money, ask for money or do a money earning activity for another organization or person as a Girl Scout. Example: Girls can't have a bake sale and tell people that they are giving the proceeds to a homeless shelter for meals, ask for pledges for a walk-a-thon to benefit breast cancer research, or hold a benefit dance to raise money for Sally's kidney operation.
- Troops CAN hold a money earning activity or ask for money from businesses/people in which the money goes towards a troop service or Take Action project. The money may go towards purchasing materials to support the project or materials to donate to a cause. However, the troops must have council permission for any Supplemental Earning (see above).

Supplemental Earning Ideas

Reminder: All Girl Scout activities must meet Safety Activity Checkpoints and Volunteer Essentials guidelines and be approved by Troop Consultant/Service Unit team.
